The Department of Educational Psychology in the College of Education at the University of Utah invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position at the Assistant Professor rank in the Department’s Counseling and Counseling Psychology (CCP) Program. The CCP program is comprised of an APA-accredited Ph.D. program in Counseling Psychology and masters’ programs that lead to licensure in Clinical Mental Health Counseling and School Counseling. The CCP program seeks candidates with established research agendas in any substantive area of counseling psychology, but is especially interested in candidates with applied research in the areas of diversity, psychotherapy process and outcome, and school-based interventions. The successful candidate will be expected to establish and maintain an active research program that has the potential to attract extramural funding and will possess a commitment to mentoring and teaching at the graduate level. In addition to research, the successful candidate will be expected to provide graduate-level instruction; advise and mentor master’s and doctoral students; supervise graduate student clinical work; participate in faculty governance; and collaborate with other faculty in promoting the continued success of our three graduate counseling programs.

The University of Utah is the state's flagship research institution and emphasizes exceptional scholarship, quality teaching, and professional service.

Interested individuals are invited to apply at our employment website http://utah.peopleadmin.com/postings/21932. As part of the application process, you will be required to upload a letter of application, curriculum vitae, selected research manuscripts or journal articles, and to provide the names and contact information for three reference letters. Questions can be addressed to the Search Committee Chair: Jason Burrow-Sánchez at 801-581-6212 (jason.burrow-sanchez@utah.edu).
